RECTOR | MR. JOHN MACKENZIE

Returning hate for hate multiplies hate, adding deeper darkness to a night already devoid of stars. Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that.

(Martin Luther King, Jr.)

Dear Fourth Medio:

I have chosen this epigraph for my words to you tonight for something I would like to comment on later, which is related to the unhappy state of the world today. Not all is bad news though, there is much else on which to comment!

First, let me say your teachers see you as a united group that is always ready to participate in different school activities. In contrast to other levels, you seem to have survived the pandemic in very good shape, both emotionally and in academic terms, which is no small thing, and you apparently enjoyed your musical enormously. More on that later!

Every generation likes to think there is something that make them special and usually find something that they feel makes them who they are. It is a classical identity question and one that we all ask of ourselves at different moments. I do not know what you see as your special characteristic, but I can tell you what makes you a very special group for your school. You are the first group to graduate that has done the full Project-Based learning experience starting in Fifth Grade.

I remember walking into your classrooms after a few weeks, and seeing some of you researching on a computer, others busy doing the same in books, and still others discussing something round a table. It was everything we hoped would happen and it seemed like magic. The landscape of what a Fifth-Grade classroom looked like had been completely transformed and we all felt very proud. We had dared to reimagine learning, and you were the proof that it was possible! And it wasn't just about you.... You were the pioneers of something that transformed all Dunalastair Schools, so of course you are very special to us. We feel even more proud, and so should you, when we see the number of schools across the country who have followed our example, often with our assistance.

But let's talk about something else of which you must also feel very proud... I mean "all that being dead thing". I must admit I had to laugh at that phrase, 'the being dead thing'. It's like saying, "dead?... whatever!" Death is always considered a very big thing, so big that we prefer not to talk about it very much. So, seeing that it is something to laugh at is quite a welcome change. And thank you for including me in the script, especially as I was not one of those that was dead... I'm "ready, set, BUT NOT YET!!" Thank you also for inviting me to dance with the ghosts... I'm sure my attempt at being scary was probably less convincing than Adam and Barbara's, but it was great fun as was all of your wonderful performance of Beetlejuice: "a show about death!"

There are various themes in Beetlejuice that are interesting, beyond that of not taking death too seriously, such as leaving things until it is too late (I mean Adam and Barbara's baby that was never to be) or the drive to see commercial opportunities in everything (Charles's idea of turning the house into a ghost theme park). But the one that struck me the most, because we see it often in schools, is Lydia's loneliness and sense of invisibility after the death of her mother: your invisible when you're sad. And the very poignant line "seems when you lose your mom, no one turns off the sun". The upside of this sad beginning to the musical is that Lydia in the end comes good. After all the "Shake, shake, shake, señora" comes the "Daylight com' and me wan' go home". She has been wanting to go home from the beginning, but now she feels she is home! And the lesson is... adolescence can be difficult, sometimes very difficult, but things get better, especially during what will be your next few years of initiating adulthood.

Let me now turn for a while to the world into which you will now be entering. I am sure it is a world you must be looking at with some hesitation. After all, there seem to be a great number of dark clouds on the horizon:

>> Climate change, which we see all around us, including our current temperatures (and rain?) that are very unusual for this time of year.

>> At the same time, there are worrying signs that the form of government that we have preferred for a long time, that is liberal democracies, appears to be weakening everywhere if not collapsing, in a world that seems ever more polarized.

>> And though we are told that we are living in one of the most peaceful periods of humanity, the terrible war in Ukraine, that is nearly two years old, has over half a million casualties. And in the last month or so we have witnessed the tragic events involving Palestinians and Israelis, two well-loved communities with which we have all grown up, both with stories to tell of atrocities that have affected their families or friends and caused them terrible pain... This is the reason I chose the words of Martin Luther King as the epigraph for tonight's words to you.

Returning hate for hate multiplies hate, adding deeper darkness to a night already devoid of stars. Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that.

I hope you will treasure these words! They come from someone who was fighting brutal discrimination in his day, and yet they talk about the power of love.

But you are also the generation that will go out into a world that has seen the appearance of very powerful tools thanks to advances in artificial intelligence including the appearance of ChatGPT. This is very much of a game changer, with opportunities and risks as is always the case with technological advances. Some wit has said that the reason we need artificial intelligence is that there is so much natural stupidity. It will be generations like yours that must make sure that the intelligence and the stupidity do not become partners –as in the conflicts I just mentioned.

The world you will be entering is an uncertain place, but it is also a very exciting one. One you needn't be afraid of, just as you are not afraid of 'that being dead thing'! You are well prepared and have talent to spare..

"So, dear class of 23, it's now time for you to leave."

Good night and good luck!

Mr. John Mackenzie

CLAUDIA BAQUEDANO
HEADMISTRESS DUNALASTAIR PEÑALOLÉN

Dear Families,

I hope this letter finds you well and in good spirits. In the special place given by this new yearbook, I wanted to take a moment to address the challenges we face together and the importance of adapting to the evolving learning environment.

The world we live in today is very different from what it was just a few decades ago. Advancements in technology, global connectivity, and the rapid pace of information have revolutionized the way we learn and acquire knowledge. While these developments have opened up exciting possibilities and opportunities, they have also presented us with new challenges. One of the significant challenges of learning in the 21st century is the abundance of information. With a few taps on a screen, we can access vast amounts of knowledge from all corners of the globe. However, discerning accurate and reliable information from the vast sea of data has become increasingly difficult. As families, we must instill in our children the skills of critical thinking, information evaluation, and media literacy, enabling them to navigate the vast digital landscape with confidence.

Another challenge we face is the rapid pace of technological advancement. New tools and platforms emerge regularly, transforming the way we communicate and learn. While these innovations offer incredible learning opportunities, they can also be overwhelming for both students, parents and teachers. Staying updated with the latest technologies and understanding how to leverage them effectively for educational purposes can be a daunting task.

The 21st century also demands a different set of skills from learners. The traditional model of education, focused on memorization and regurgitation of facts, is gradually being replaced by a focus on critical thinking, problem-solving, collaboration, and creativity. Our children must be equipped with these skills to thrive in a rapidly changing job market and to become active contributors to society. Encouraging a growth mindset and providing opportunities for hands-on, experiential learning will help our children develop these essential skills. These skills are already present in the innovations in our learning methodologies through units of inquiry, projects and challenges in every step of Dunalastair's learning path.

Additionally, the digital age has brought about a blurring of boundaries between formal and informal learning environments. Education is no longer confined to the four walls of a classroom; it happens everywhere and at all times. As a community, we can embrace this concept by creating a rich learning environment at school and home, encouraging our children to explore their interests, and integrating technology as a tool for learning beyond the school hours.

Lastly, the challenges of learning in the 21st century extend to the well-being of our children. The constant connectivity and the pressures of the digital world can affect their mental health. As families, we must prioritize open communication, fostering healthy habits, and providing a supportive environment that allows our children to strike a balance between their online and offline lives.

In conclusion, the challenges of learning in the 21st century are undeniable. However, by recognizing and addressing these challenges together we can empower our children to thrive in this rapidly evolving world.

Thank you for your continued support and partnership in the education of our children.

Warm regards, Claudia Baquedano.

GABRIELA GACITÚA
SAFEGUARDING LEAD

Dear students,
Today I want to talk to you about the incredible power you have to create a safe and secure environment within our school walls. Safeguarding is not just the responsibility of teachers and staff; it is a duty we all share. Each one of you plays a vital role in ensuring the well-being of yourselves and your peers. Be proactive in looking out for one another, speaking up when you see something concerning, and treating everyone with respect and kindness. Remember, your voice matters, and your actions can make a significant impact.
Together, we can create a school where everyone feels protected, supported, and empowered to thrive. Let's stand united and make our school a safe place to everyone.

MACARENA CAMACHO
SAFEGUARDING LEAD INFANT

Dear Students:
It has been wonderful to be able to meet and accompany you during this school year. I feel privileged to have witnessed your growth not only as students, but also as children who take care of themselves, care about helping others and take care of their environment, just as our 4 bees teach us.
For us it is very important that you see your school as a safe environment, in which you feel happy and perceive the adults who are part of the school community as figures of support and contention. Therefore, I hope that we have accomplished to answer each of your needs.
Thank you for everything you gave us during this year. For the laughter, the games, the joy and for teaching us to enjoy the simple things in life. See you next year!!!

FRANCISCO FERNÁNDEZ
HEAD SENIOR SCHOOL

Dear students, with these words, I would like to wish you the greatest success in your lives both inside and outside the school. You illuminate this place every day. The playgrounds, the classrooms, the courts, the corridors that see you circulating every day in this school would be nothing without you. You give life to this place and also to the people who work with you. I am privileged to have the opportunity to support you, with our senior team, through perhaps one of the most beautiful stages of your lives, knowing that each one of you has something to contribute, and I truly hope that you feel loved, cared for, seen and heard in your school. Together we can build the best school in the world and I truly believe that. Each of you can contribute to being better, wanting to be better for yourselves and for everyone at Dunalastair.
A special greeting to the students of twelfth grade who are finishing an important stage and moving on to another, where I hope that success of all kinds will accompany them, that they will be responsible citizens and that in the difficult and pleasant moments they can count on their school and on me to support them. This will always be your school and we will always welcome you.

CLAUDIA CELIS
HEAD JUNIOR SCHOOL

Dear Students,
As your proud head of junior, I am filled with immense joy and gratitude as I witness your incredible journey of growth here in Dunalastair! Each day, I am inspired by your curiosity, determination, and huge potential. It is a privilege to be part of your lives as you walk on this transformative path of learning and self-discovery. Seeing you develop into confident, compassionate individuals warms my heart. Your unique talents and diverse perspectives enrich our school community, creating a vibrant and nurturing environment for all. Remember that every challenge you face is an opportunity to learn and grow further. Keep shining brightly, for the future holds endless possibilities for each of you. Embrace every moment, for these precious years will shape you into the leaders and change makers of tomorrow.

LETICIA IRUSTA
HEAD INFANT SCHOOL

Dear Infant students: During this year, I have had the opportunity to get to know each one of you, witnessing each of your important achievements. For me, it has been very valuable to be able to receive you during the Kiss and Go moment, as well as to say goodbye to you at the end of each day.
I really value the instances that we lived together this year, where we were able to form a beautiful community, through our Assemblies, Student's day celebrations, Book week, Parades, School Anniversary and many other meetings that allowed us to meet and share significant experiences in our School. It was a challenging and very rewarding year. I wish you a well-deserved rest and my best wishes for the next year.

DUNALASTAIR MILESTONES

PRE-KINDER | The Four Bs

The school has a positive behaviour policy which emphasises looking at what we want to see (rather than what we do not want to see). We call this our 4 Bs: Be Safe, Be Responsible, Be Respectful and Be Nice. These broad categories of behaviour guide the actions of our community. During one special week our Prekinder students carry out concrete actions in which they can visualise and experience the behaviours expected at school.

PLAYGROUP | My House

The Scottish tradition, which defines the identity of our school, led us to introduce houses named after major clans. The Playgroup level marks the entrance to our school and there is a milestone of learning about the characteristics of their House, including their colour, tartan or family crest. The students work on Identity by learning about the history of the school and its founder, Mrs Ada Crew.

YEAR 3 | My First Concert

The appreciation of beauty is another of the school's educational objectives. For this reason, between Year 3 & 6 all students learn to play an instrument of their choice and take part in the school orchestra or band.

In Year 3 they perform a concert for their parents and teachers for the first time. Playing together allows them to develop skills that will be fundamental in the future.

YEAR 8 | Knowledge Journey

In 8 Year, students go on a study trip designed not only to have an academic impact, but also to strengthen the bonds between the students before starting high school. To do this, they prepare their trip by studying different aspects of the environment of the place they are going to visit, researching the geography, the original and current human settlements, the flora and fauna, the productive resources, among others. They organise this research in their logbooks and present it to their fellow students.

YEAR 6 | Challenge Camp

Year 6 students are invited to strengthen their teamwork skills, especially those of collaboration, communication and empathy, in a two and a half day trip to a mountain lodge. They practice assertive communication and collaboration by playing Capture the Flag and Treasure Hunt. They also develop respect and care for the environment.

CAST 2

Seniors | Class Musical

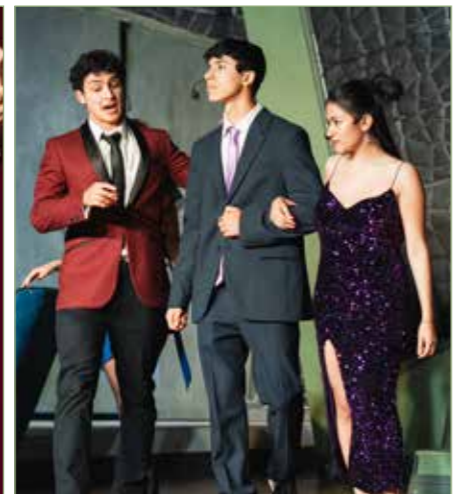

The end of our students' school journey is marked by the Year 12 Musical. This final project allows students to further develop their teamwork, communication and empathy skills; to strengthen their bonds as a group and provide a welcome distraction from university entrance exams.

Students choose the musical they will perform and then take on all the responsibilities of staging this ambitious project. They can take part in acting, dance, set design, costume and make-up design, props or the translation team. Preparation takes place throughout the year until the day of the premiere where they perform as a gift to our whole community.

OUT INTO THE WORLD

SOCIAL ACTION

2023 has been very special for our school. We have grown as a team and decided to take a sustainable path, both environmentally and socially. We know there is a long way to go, but we are proud of these first steps.

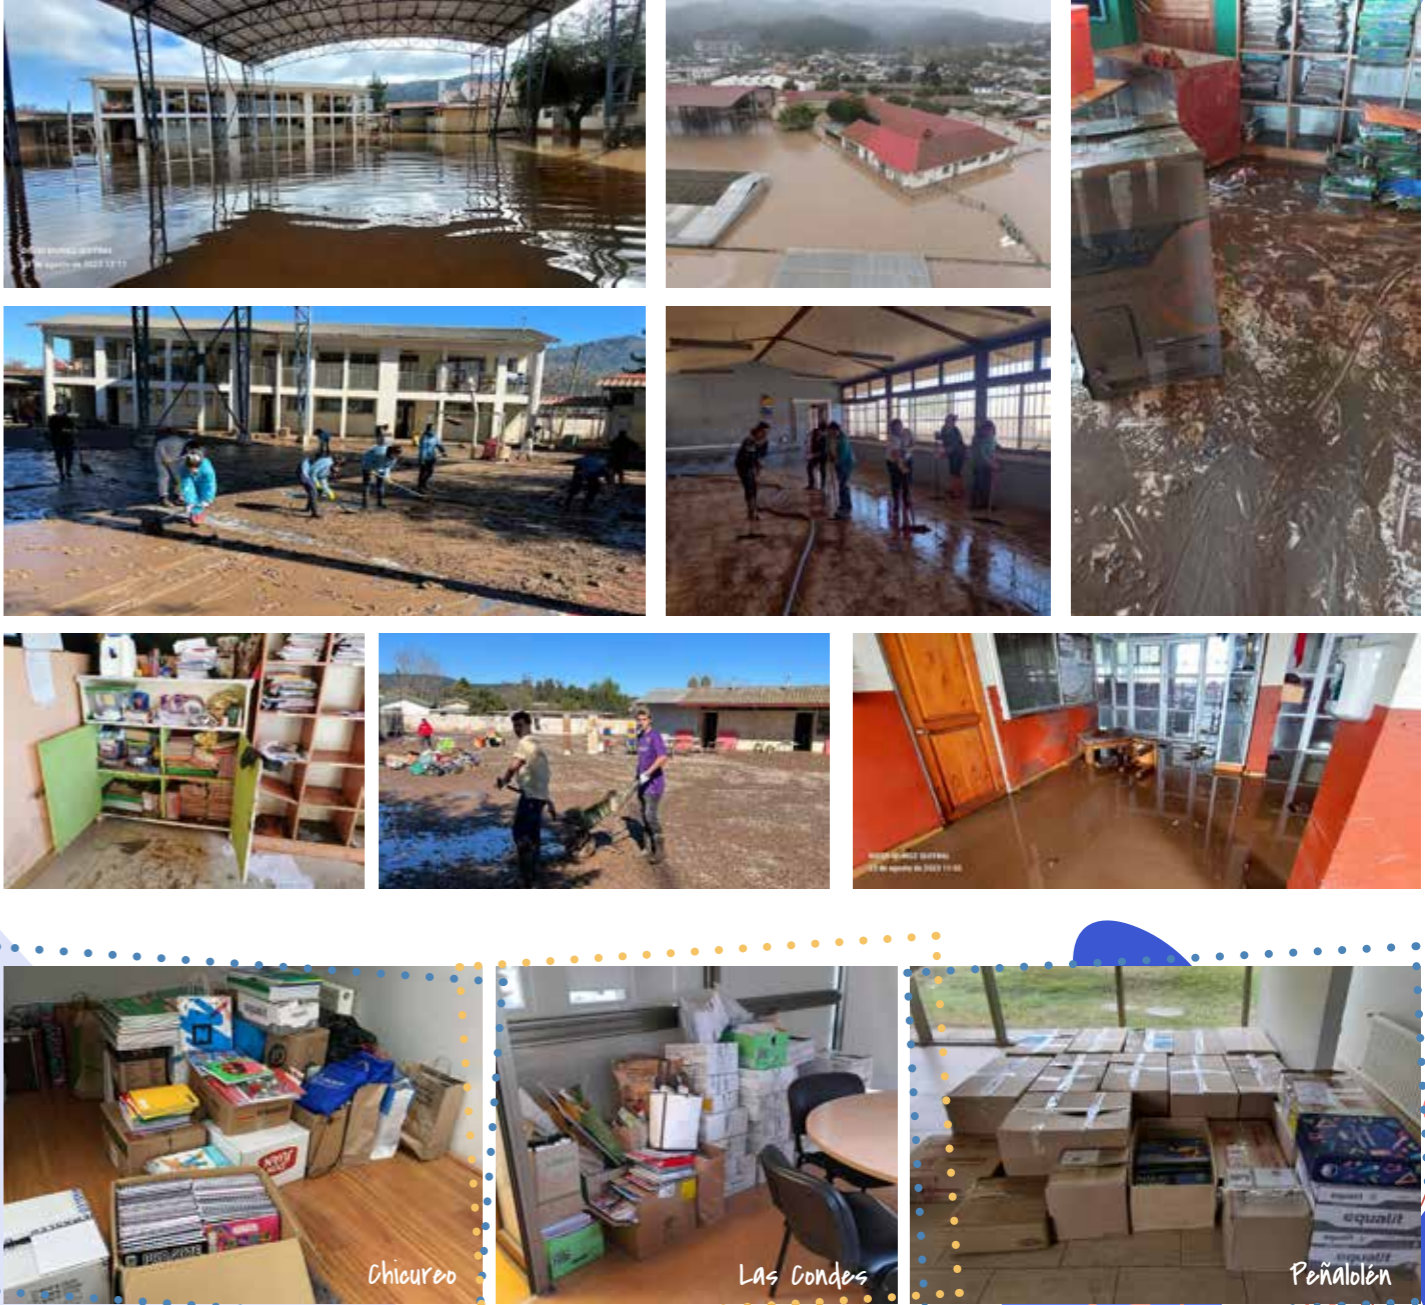

La Dehesa School of Cunco:

For Easter, Chicureo and Peñalolén campuses collected and sent chocolate eggs for kids in Cunco, who greatly enjoyed this surprise. Later, during Book Week, Las Condes campus took charge of the 'Library in the Classroom' campaign, gathering books for all levels and successfully creating a small library for all school grades.

Bicentenario School Licantén:

We witnessed the flooding in the south of Chile due to heavy rains. Therefore, Dunalastair, in collaboration with the parents' associations from all three campuses, carried out the #Licanténvuelveclases campaign. Thanks to this initiative, we were able to send the necessary school supplies for the boys and girls at the Bicentenario School in Licantén to resume their studies.

ENVIRONMENT

Corporate carbon footprint measurement

As a school, we embarked on an irreversible journey: the measurement of our corporate carbon footprint. Everything we do from now on will come with an analysis of how we are impacting our planet.

It is exciting to have taken this path, as we not only aim for certification but also commit to the environment by reducing our footprint year after year.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCES

MIT

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

During the month of January, the Python Programming course was conducted with trainers from MIT, and students from all three Dunalastair campuses participated.

HTH

A group of 12 teachers traveled to High Tech High for professional development in Project-Based Learning.

Learning without Borders

Through the Learning Without Borders program of Cognita Schools, our teachers traveled to undertake internships in London, India, and Dubai.

India

BIYSC

During the winter, students interested in science from all three campuses traveled to the Barcelona International Youth Science Challenge.

Mill Hill

Both in July and September, several students traveled to enhance their English skills in the Mill Hill programs in London.

Barça Academy

At the close of the year, our students participated in the Barça Academy during two weeks in December.

CHAPTER 6

We are so proud, and it's been an honor, to be part of the very beginning of your school life, where you've not only been discovering new abilities, but discovering yourself. We watched you learn and grow and we worked so hard and had such fun. We had so many special times. Just know that you will always have a special place in our hearts! Always remember, if you can dream it, you can achieve it!

Miss Verónica Silva and Miss Constanza Romero

PG C

It's been an honor for us to meet you and share with you during this time of many games, hugs and learning. We feel to know how day by day you make new friends, learn to respect each other, verbalize what is happening to you, as well as you are also showing all your skills and abilities. We hope you have a good time and make beautiful memories during your school time and always remember that everything comes in due time if you persevere.

Miss Catalina Alfaro & Miss Constanza Vargas

PG B

It was so funny to be with you this year! It has been a year full of challenges, love and learning. We are very proud of how you have grown, always happy, curious and full of energy. All of you are kids with wonderful hearts, you love to have friends and share time together. Continue learning and enjoying your life, be kind and always give your best. We wish you the best, a big hug full of love!

PREFECTS 2023

The institution of Prefects, so characteristic of British public schools, at Dunalastair we understand out school prefects to be models of 'servant leadership', the idea of senior students who are role models for our younger ones, and who are committed to helping us ensure that behaviour within the school lives up to the expectations of our positive discipline policy, and the four 'B's: Be safe, Be Responsible, Be Respectful and Be Kind. We also expect them to be concerned with issues that might affect the overall wellbeing of students, and to alert the relevant adults where they may have detected a problem.

As role models we expect them to be examples of the 'all-rounder' ideal, and to be thoroughly involved in the life of the school. They are elected as primus inter pares by students and staff, and the elected group choose their year group's Head Girl and Head Boy.
